Costly Metal Stolen

PARIS (UPI)—Five masked gunmen got away with an estimated $250,000 worth of platinum yesterday in France's most spectacular postwar holdup.

The platinum was in the form of massive melting pots, used to contain molten glass for optical instruments, in a factory at suburban le Vesinet. Total weight of the platinum stolen was estimated at 260 pounds.

The holdup took place at the Parramantois works at 5 p.m., the hour of a scheduled shift change, and only a skeleton staff of four was on hand when the bandits suddenly appeared in the workshop.

The bandits were armed and one of them carried what looked like a grenade, witnesses told police.

"If you make one move, we will throw this grenade," one of the bandits said.

The raiders trussed and gagged the four workmen, loaded the platinum onto a truck and made a getaway before the alarm could be raised.

Police immediately organized a dragnet throughout Paris and on main highways leading out of the capital.

Brutal Attack Suspect Held Week

VANCOUVER (CP) — John Twist, 25, was remanded a week without bail when he appeared in police court Monday on a charge of armed robbery, following an attack on the Trevor Newton family here Wednesday.

Mr. Newton was brutally beaten with a frying pan in the attack and court was told doctors are examining him to see if he will require brain surgery.

Mrs. Newton suffered minor injuries in the attack. Their son Terry, 9, was struck over the head with a flashlight by the intruder who ordered him to accompany him as he fled. However, the boy was not seriously injured and was released near his home.

Twist was arrested several days later at Courtenay.

My Husband, ARTHUR MURRAY

What's it like being married to a temperamental yet charming, generous but penny-pinching, shy yet publicity-seeking genius?

In The Saturday Evening Post this week you'll read Kathryn Murray's very honest, very surprising story of her life with Arthur. You'll learn:

- of their hilarious first dance.
- how it feels for a grandmother to become a TV star at 50, and to have her husband as her boss.
- why Arthur has had one of the stormiest careers in TV history.
- what really goes on in Arthur's dance studios.
- how he taught a British dance instructor the Black Bottom by transatlantic phone.
- what it's like for a shy boy who grew up in poverty to teach celebrities how to dance.

It's the most fascinating story you've read in years. Don't miss the first installment of the five-part story, "My Husband, Arthur Murray."
